The California Water and Environmental Modeling Forum is a non-profit, non-partisan organization whose mission is to increase the usefulness of models for analyzing California's water-related problems. The CWEMF, which was formed in 1994, carries out this mission by:

- Facilitating an open exchange of information on California water issues;
- Resolving technical disagreements in a non-adversarial setting; and
- Ensuring that technical work continues to take into account the needs of stakeholders and decision makers
